Personal Catastrophe Liability Policy

Would you be adequately covered if you were responsible for any of the following accidents?

- A jury awarded $900,000 to the estate of a 43-year-old father whose death resulted from an automobile accident. The award was based in part on the father's future earning potential.
- A family dog becomes very touchy and bites a child. Although the child is not seriously injured physically, there are some resulting psychological problems. The dog's owner is sued for a substantial sum.
- A fire that started accidentally on your property spreads to several adjoining properties and results in a large property damage settlement.

There are many other examples that would portray the need to obtain a PCL policy. In the end, the PCL is designed to protect you, your assets, and everything you worked for throughout your life.

Mastercover provides you with an additional $1 million dollars or more of coverage to your underlying limits to protect you against the growing wave of high jury awards in personal liability cases. It works with, rather than replacing, your present automobile, home and other personal liability policies.

Are you ready for a major lawsuit?
